Evidence grounding, not name generation, limits release-ready database construction